People need to be careful what some people see. Several days ago, the GFS developed a hurricane just east of the Lesser Antilles on about Day 10 and over several days took it to landfall on the east coast of the US on Day 16 as a major storm. On the next run, it was totally gone. Any meteorologist would recognize this for what it is. The danger is with the uninformed.

Sent from my iPhone