From: The Washington Post
Sent: Monday, September 9, 2019 12:14 PM
To: john.leslie@noaa.gov
Subject: The Post Most: NOAA chief scientist to probe whether agency violated policy in backing Trump on Hurricane Dorian tweets
NOAA chief scientist to probe whether agency violated policy in backing Trump on Hurricane Dorian tweets

A top NOAA official said he would investigate if NOAA violated its scientific integrity policy.

By Kayla Epstein, Andrew Freedman and Jason Samenow • Read more »
She and her twin were inseparable. Then a gunman tore the 15-year-olds apart.

By Jessica Contrera • Read more »

A new poll shows voters aren’t buying what Trump is selling

Opinion • By Max Boot • Read more »

Collapse of Afghanistan peace talks spotlights internal Trump administration divisions

By Karen DeYoung • Read more »

‘UVA has ruined us’: Health system sues thousands of patients, seizing paychecks and putting liens on homes

By Jay Hancock and Elizabeth Lucas • Read more »

As billions flow to farmers, Trump administration faces internal concerns over unprecedented bailout

By Jeff Stein • Read more »

I was the first woman to publicly accuse gymnastics doctor Larry Nassar. But I was also abused in my own church.

Perspective • By Rachael Denhollander • Read more »
Google is always listening. Now it’s watching, too, with the Nest Hub Max.

Review ● By Geoffrey Fowler ● Read more »

Here’s how Amy Klobuchar could pull off the nomination

Opinion ● By Jennifer Rubin ● Read more »

Too many voters live under minority rule. Here’s why.

Perspective ● By Arnold Schwarzenegger and David Daley ● Read more »

Americans overwhelmingly support new gun laws, poll finds

By Mike DeBonis and Emily Guskin ● Read more »

Fast food has vegan options now. But are they any healthier than their meat counterparts?

Perspective ● By Cara Rosenbloom ● Read more »

Risk or safety? The dividing line between Joe Biden and his challengers.

By Michael Scherer ● Read more »

It’s Antonio Brown’s NFL now, and everyone else is just living in it
More on Dorian

U.S. official surveying Bahamas: Some areas look like ‘they were hit by a nuclear bomb’

USAID head Mark Green: In some places, “it’s like they were hit by a nuclear bomb.”

By Carol Morello • Read more »
‘I’m watching my daughter cry’: Bahamas hurricane survivors are kicked off ferry over U.S. visa demands
By Katie Shepherd ● Read more »

Trump warned Alabama about Dorian. So we sent someone there to cover the ‘hurricane.’
By Avi Selk ● Read more »

We think you’ll like this newsletter
Check out The 5-Minute Fix for a must-read cheat sheet on the latest in politics that can be read in 5 minutes or less, every Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Sign up »